Commentary

IXP opens at 7006; same as previous close. We had an expected resistance at 7008 but the index failed to break it due to weak trades and fell to reach the support at 6980 which was broken as well reaching the lowest point at 6960 and closed at 6969; 38 points below previous close. Liquidity ratio at the end of the day shows 36.5% buy and 63.5% sell. Next support level is at 6938 and 6885. The market is under selling pressure for profit taking specially on cheap stocks, and without any strong influence factors we might reach levels prior to Jan 2017. Eyes are all on Q1 results that might lead the market for a major bounce.
