Commentary

IXP opens at 6725; 7 points below previous close. Expected resistance at 6752 targeting 6760 and then 6895, and support at 6718, 6695 and 6670. Expected selling wave for profit taking specially after few sessions of rising. The price index reached the lowest point at 6682 and then closed at 6725; 7 points below previous close. liquidity ratio at the end of the day shows 46% buy and 54% sell. As of next week there will be a new pricing system and that's probably what reduced the total traded value and pushed some to liquidate as the uncertainty is high. We are still below 6895 and so the market can fall back at any time. Not recommended for long investment at the moment.
