Commentary

IXP opens at 7006; 9 points below previous close. Very positive day trading in all three level; value, quantity, and number of trades. Some buying pressure was present on few selective stocks that pushed the index to reach 7050 which then continued on horizontal level to close at 7059; 44 points above previous close. Liquidity ratio shows 66% buy and 34% sell, a significant increase compared to the last previous days. Expected resistance was at 7060, and support at 6980. Closing near the resistance gives good indicators, but to be aware of closing below 6980 as this might lead to a big correction wave.
