Commentary

IXP opens at 6749; 1 point below previous close. The price index broke the support levels at 6722, 6680, and 6650 which then bounced and closed at 6665; down by 84 points from previous close. Breaking the support level 6650 was a negative indicator which might lead to further decrease. The disappointment behind the financial results and dividends distributions prompted investors to sell. If price index didn't bounce from the current support level, the index might fall to 6534 and then 6345-6325.
